Important notes:

All hikes generally take place on marked trails and paths, partly in alpine terrain. They do not involve any particular technical difficulties (see hike description). However, a certain level of basic fitness, endurance, surefootedness, and good physical condition are prerequisites for participating in these hikes. The use of medication must be discussed with a family doctor. Appropriate equipment, suitable clothing, and especially sturdy, preferably ankle-high footwear are essential. Hiking poles can be beneficial. The maximum altitude reached is approximately 2,200 meters.

The hike leader is responsible for navigation but not for the personal safety of the participants. Any participant who separates from the group does so at their own risk. The hike leader cannot be held responsible for this.

I also agree that photos taken during the hiking days on which I appear may be used by the Tramin Tourism Association for promotional purposes, or I will explicitly inform the hiking guide that I do not wish to be included in the photos.

I hereby give my explicit consent to the Tramin Tourism Association for the processing of the data I have provided, namely particularly my name, address, services utilized and related correspondence, date of birth, gender, nationality, country of birth, disclosed intolerances, and any other health data.

Additionally, at the end of the year, Christmas mail will be sent, for which the Tramin Tourism Association may use my provided data.

We kindly ask you to complete your registration no later than two weeks before the start of the hiking days. The tourism association reserves the right to cancel the hiking days if fewer than 6 people are registered one week before the registration deadline.
